

I am writing in regard to the new broadcast service known as Low Power FM (LPFM) and the effect it may have on national stations, specifically my favorite station, K-LOVE (found at 106.7 FM in the Raleigh, NC area). I believe the FCC should NOT allow LPFM stations to override national broadcasting stations such as K-LOVE. I began listening to K-LOVE about 2 years ago, and since the day I found the station, I have listened to virtually nothing else. The music is so unlike anything else on the airwaves—there is no cussing, no vulgarity, no rudeness...nothing inappropriate for children, teens, or adults. I am not aware of a station in the US that touches more lives each year. Because of the positive message they send out, literally thousands of individuals have had their lives changed for the better. I cannot imagine not having this station available to me every day, which may happen if the LPFM stations are given priority on the airwaves. I will not return to listening to the "regular" radio stations. Please keep K-LOVE on the air by NOT allowing the LPFM stations to be expanded!!
